Borneo: The Symphony of the Rainforest

What does sound tell us about the world's wildest places? To find out, join science writer Justine Hausheer on a Virtual Field Trip to Borneo, the third largest island in the world. Learn how we can use science and acoustic technology to care for the land and protect the plants and animals in one of the world's most biodiverse regions.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8h_Xaz7cSTg&feature=youtu.be

If you submit/share the google document "Guess That Animal Sound", you will receive extra credit for science! The document can be found in Google Classroom.
