Saint Wendel Catholic School

November 7, 2022

We hope everyone had a fantastic weekend despite the rain on Saturday. We have one more week of speech practice on Tuesday and Thursday and one more week of Spell Bowl of Monday and Wednesday. We are so proud of all of our students and the extra time outside of school as they prepare for their upcoming competitions.

This week is Vocation Awareness Week. National Vocation Awareness Week, celebrated November 6-12, 2022, is an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promoting vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and consecrated life through prayer and education, and to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these particular vocations.
Here are some resources for you to look through with your family-https://www.usccb.org/committees/clergy-consecrated-life-vocations/national-vocation-awareness-week

Prayer for Vocations-
God our Father, we thank you for calling men and women to serve in your Son's Kingdom as priests, deacons, and consecrated persons. Send your Holy Spirit to help others to respond generously and courageously to your call. May our community of faith support vocations of sacrificial love in our youth and young adults. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever. Amen

Important Reminders about Sickness:
Parents if your student is sick we ask that you either call the main office phone 812-963-3958 at anytime and leave a message or you can email the teacher, Mrs. Travers and Mrs. Scheu. It is important if you email that you include all three people just in case someone is out. Please do not text the teachers or Mrs. Travers.

Parents-With the season changing we have seen an increase in illnesses. We encourage everyone to please keep your student(s) home if they have any symptoms to help keep the illnesses from spreading. Students must be fever free for 24 hours without any use of medication before they can return back to school.

THANK YOU message from Rajean Bergman

I would like to thank each and everyone that supported this year's Turtle Fundraiser. From helping to stir caramel to the assembly of the turtles, the success would not have been possible without your help. Our pre-order sales were just over 1,180 pounds, and we were able to exceed that by making 1,324 pounds! There are a few extra boxes of turtles available for sale, as well as, chocolate pieces, pecans, and caramel. Stop by the school office to purchase these. Again, thank you for everything, and I can't wait to see you on the first Friday in November 2023!

Strategies for Better Living.

Could the media have a negative impact on your child's health?

by Jennifer Kerr, MS, RD, CDN

Children spend hours using media through television, the Internet and print sources. They come in contact with multiple marketing and advertising messages, especially those for candy, sugary cereals and fast food. They spend most of this time using media while sedentary.

At the same time, health experts are calling for nationwide action to slow the rising rates of overweight and obese children. The most recent research indicates that childhood obesity rates have more than tripled since 1980. Health experts encourage limiting "screen-time" to 2 hours a day. But is there more we can do to limit the negative impact of media on child health?

The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), part of the National Institutes of Health within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, created a program called Media-Smart Youth. Media-Smart Youth is an initiative for 11-14 year olds, which strives to empower kids to think critically and make thoughtful decisions about nutrition and physical activity.

Media-Smart Youth asks kids (and their parents) to answer these six questions while viewing product advertisements through TV or print media:

1. Who is the sponsor or author?
2. Who is the audience?
3. What is the purpose?
4. What is the message?
5. What information is missing?
6. What techniques are used to attract your attention?
